ANNOUNCEMENT

CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

In a world increasingly shaped by geopolitical tensions, social fragmentation, and cultural misunderstandings, tourism is once again being critically re-examined not only as an economic activity, but as a potential catalyst for peacebuilding, dialogue, and reconciliation. While tourism has long been celebrated as a “passport to peace” and a “vital force for peace,” contemporary realities demand a more nuanced, critical, and evidence-based examination of its true capacity to contribute to peace at local, regional, and global levels.

The International Conference “Tourism and Peacebuilding Future” aims to provide a rigorous academic and professional platform for exploring tourism’s role in peacebuilding, acknowledging both its transformative potential and its inherent limitations. Moving beyond idealized narratives, the conference emphasizes peace-sensitive, ethically grounded, and context-aware tourism approaches, particularly relevant in conflict-affected, post-conflict, politically sensitive, and culturally diverse destinations.

The inaugural conference International Conference “Tourism and Peacebuilding Future 2026”, hosted at the Academy of Hospitality, Tourism and Wellness in Belgrade, Serbia is positioned at the crossroads of tourism studies, peace and conflict studies, international relations, cultural diplomacy, sustainability, and destination governance. Belgrade and the wider Balkan region, marked by a complex history of coexistence, conflict, reconciliation, and regeneration, offer a uniquely meaningful context for launching this scholarly dialogue.

Participants will also have the opportunity to explore Belgrade, one of Southeast Europe’s most dynamic tourism destinations, through networking and cultural activities organised alongside the scientific programme.

The 2026 conference will also contribute to the international commemoration of the 40th Anniversary of the International Institute for Peace Through Tourism (IIP), recognising four decades of pioneering work in advancing tourism as a force for peace, and intercultural understanding.

CONFERENCE AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

The conference seeks to:

- Critically assess tourism's role in peacebuilding, reconciliation, and conflict transformation
- Examine the ethical, political, and structural conditions under which tourism can contribute to peace
- Bridge theory and practice by connecting academic research with policy, industry, and community perspectives
- Advance interdisciplinary dialogue on peace-sensitive, sustainable and responsible tourism development
- Explore future-oriented frameworks for tourism as a tool for peace, resilience, and social cohesion

CONFERENCE LOCATION

The conference will be held in Belgrade, Serbia, at the Academy of Hospitality, Tourism and Wellness - Tošin Bunar 179d street.

Belgrade and the wider Balkan region represent a historically complex and symbolically rich context for discussions on tourism, conflict, reconciliation, and peacebuilding, and the crossroads of cultures.

ACADEMY OF HOSPITALITY, TOURISM AND WELLNESS

The Academy of Hospitality, Tourism and Wellness is a specialised higher education institution located in Belgrade, Serbia, dedicated to educating future professionals and leaders in hospitality, tourism, wellness, destination management, and related service industries. Through its study programmes, industry partnerships with “A” Hotels, applied research activities, and international cooperation initiatives, the Academy contributes to the advancement of tourism knowledge and professional practice in Serbia and the wider region.

The Academy maintains strong links with tourism and hospitality stakeholders, including hotels, tourism organisations, tourism businesses, and professional associations, providing students and researchers with opportunities to engage directly with contemporary industry challenges and innovations. As host of the inaugural International Conference on Tourism and Peacebuilding Future, the Academy aims to foster international academic dialogue and interdisciplinary collaboration on tourism, peacebuilding, sustainability, and intercultural understanding.

Located in New Belgrade, one of the city’s most modern and accessible districts, the Academy offers convenient access to Belgrade Nikola Tesla Airport, the city centre, business districts, cultural attractions, and major transportation hubs.

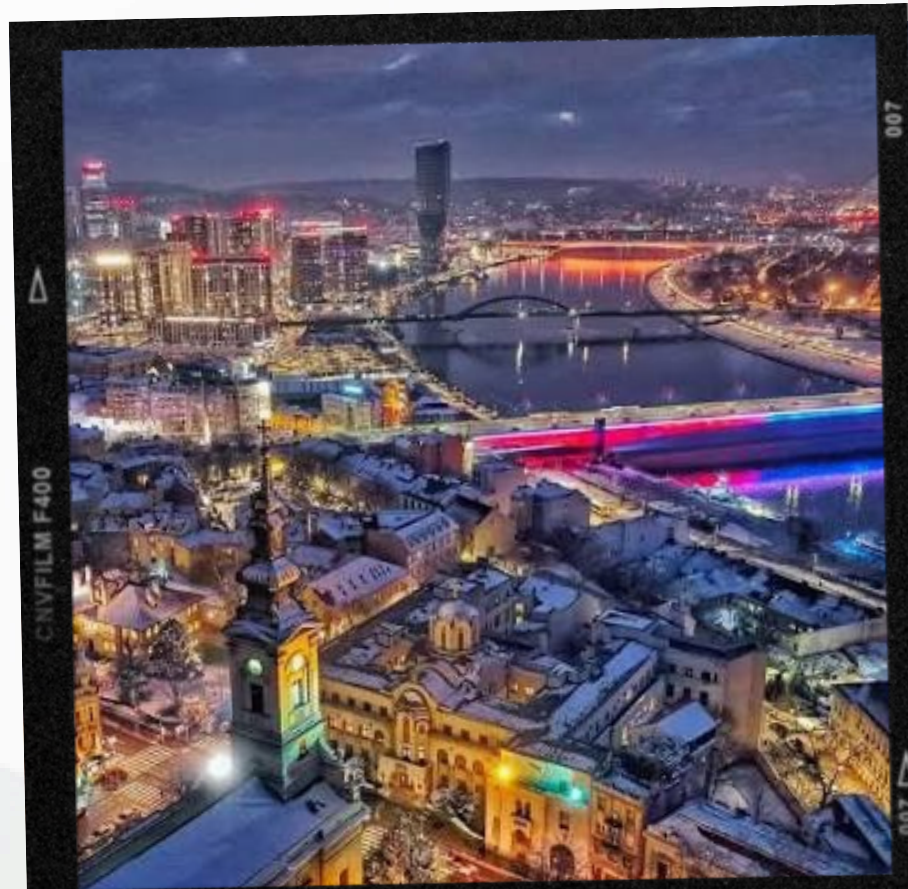

ABOUT BELGRADE

Belgrade, the capital of the Republic of Serbia, is one of Europe's oldest continuously inhabited cities and a unique meeting point of cultures, religions, and civilizations. Situated at the confluence of the Danube and Sava rivers, the city has historically served as a bridge between East and West, reflecting centuries of cultural exchange, coexistence, conflict, and renewal.

Today, Belgrade is recognized as one of Europe's most dynamic urban destinations, combining rich historical heritage with a vibrant contemporary cultural scene. Visitors can explore landmarks such as the Belgrade Fortress and Kalemegdan Park, St. Sava Temple, Skadarlija Bohemian Quarter, the Museum of Yugoslavia, and numerous galleries, museums, and cultural institutions.

The city is renowned for its hospitality, lively café culture, diverse gastronomy, and vibrant events calendar. Belgrade's experience of historical transformation, post-conflict recovery, regional cooperation, and urban regeneration makes it a particularly meaningful venue for scholarly discussions on tourism, reconciliation, dialogue, resilience, and peacebuilding.
